

WELCOME!!!

BIENVENUE!!!

The City of Ste Genevieve welcomes you to take part in history...

It may seem like we're all done creating history here in Ste Gen, but we're just getting started. Our new journey builds on preserving our most precious commodities by sharing them with people who will treasure what we offer...people like you. This packet is our new and improved Visit Kit which features all you need to spend a weekend working on mind, body, and spirit while also working on some unique wines and spirits. Jourir!!!

OUR HISTORIC SITES

A uniquely American story

People wonder...why so many separate entities for such a small town? Well...they each tell a piece of the tale.....

National Park Service

Highlights the town's formation around the Mississippi and how that relationship influenced everything from agriculture to commerce told by exploring four historic properties and the lives of its inhabitants.

State Historic Site

Relive early mercantile life from the State-run Felix Valle house, where the home of one of our earliest merchants features a reproduction shop of local trade goods.

Centre for French Colonial Life

Gives insight into the French settlers transformation into Americans through a tidy museum and tours of the Bolduc and Lemellier homes.

Foundation for Restoration

Features the best example of a Normand Truss in the US and is run by ancestors of the town's forebears who work to keep their French heritage alive.

Museum Learning Center

Tells the beginning of our story (dinosaurs/mineral formation) and the industrialized 19th and 20th century through an immense archaeological collection and riveting displays.

Art Guild

Learn of Ste. Gen's art colony founded by women painters, Aimee Schweig and Jesse Beard Rickley, brought to prominence by the likes of Thomas Hart Benton and Joe Jones.

FESTIVALS

Ste. Genevieve is home to some particularly sweet festivals for people looking for a slower pace of life. We value our history, and in doing so we help preserve and share those traditional d.i.y. activities that are regaining popularity today.

Want to learn the ins and outs of beekeeping? Come to our Honey Festival in June. Fancy yourself a woodworker? Pioneer Days might be just the ticket for you. Powering these celebrations of heritage are our makers and artisans who man their one-of-a-kind shops downtown year-round.

WINE COUNTRY

It wasn't long ago that Napa Valley in California was overlooked for their wine. Now, they're home to the most revered vineyards in the world. Ste. Genevieve is on that same trajectory. Come see why some of the best wine-making cultures settled here.

Brix Urban Winery

Located in the heart of Ste. Gen, Brix is a winery that uses no grapes. Their medium...honey.

Chaumette Winery

Want to feel like you're in Sonoma with a red-barn Midwestern flare? Try Chaumette!

chaumette.com

Charleville Winery

Much like Chaumette, Charleville will change your perspective on rural Missouri for the better!

Cave Vineyard

A relaxing tasting room experience and a unique setting. It's all about the cave, baby.

cavevineyard.com

Weingarten Vineyard

A semi-round event space with floor-to-ceiling windows puts this winery atop the must-see list.
